EAGLES WILL GIVE BIG MINSTREL SHOW JANUARY 18 AND 19

Eagles Plan Big Minstrel Next Month

The Fraternal Order of Eagles, No. 492, which organization is staging a minstrel show at the Star theatre Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, January 18th and 19th, expects to give to the theatre going public of Monessen and vicinity, the best minstrel show that has ever been seen in the Monongahela valley.

"Jack" Keefer, who has had years of experience as a producer of minstrel shows, is directing the show for the boys and Jack says that he has never had more talent to chose from than he has found in this year's crop of vocalists and comedians in the Order of Eagles.

The minstrel show proper, or grand first part, is a replica of the old colonial days of '76 and will be one stupendous array of color and lighting effects. The scenery is being painted by the Silvis and Bear Studios. The large back drop is painted to represent a carmen plush curtain, ornamented with a raised design in gold tinsel, this glittering metallic plate standing out under the strong flood lights, as a dazzling glare of splendor.

As Keefer is always trying to give the public something new, and up to date, he has changed the regular order of old time minstrels, and has put the cart before the horse, or in other words he is opening the show with the after-part, and is closing with the minstrel show proper, or Grand Minstrel First Part.

The performance opens with a "Bang" depicting a jolly crowd of Eagles out for a night's frolic at the club, and as this scene is supposed to have taken place in the year 1917, you can imagine the fun they are having. "Nuf Ced." At the close of this scene, a chorus of mixed (?) voices sing that beautiful ballad, "The Bells of St. Mary's, I Hear Them Calling Me." At this point, Frank Millard Crowell's comedy four take the stage, and as fun-makers these boys can not be beat.

The olio, or vaudeville part of the show is made up of local artists, but they can not be called amateurs All these acts have had a lot of professional training and experience. The Myford sisters, Ellen and Ruth, have appeared before the public on numerous occasions and have always delighted the audences wherever they have appeared, with their beautiful vocal and instrumental numbers.

Miss Virginia Claybaugh, that versatile lady, who always pleases her audiences with the art of terpsichore, will appear in a series of dancing numbers that will please the most fastidious, as this little artist does not confine herself to one style of dancing, but like Mlle. Daize,

Mill Foreman Was Killed This Morning

Frank Hubinon, Jr., aged 36, foreman at the hot mills of the Pittsburgh Steel Products company, was instantly killed at 3:45 this morning, when while adjusting the rolls in his department his foot slipped and he fell into the gears, his body being terribly mangled before the machinery could be brought to a stop. The deceased was one of the oldest and most respected employes of the mill and the unfortunate accident this morning has caused deep regret among his fellow employees.

He was a pioneer resident of Charleroi, having resided at 703 McKean avenue for the past thirty years. He is survived by his wife and one child, a father, mother and sister. He was a member of the Moose and Eagles of Charleroi. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon with interment in the Charleroi cemetery.

Many Attend Dance

About a hundred and fifty couple crowded in the Turner hall last evening to enjoy the annual rustic dance of the local Elks, and from all acounts, a most pleasant evening was spent doing the light fantastic to the strains of O'Hara's Jazz orchestra of McKeesport. The hall presented a wonderful appearance, the decorators having spared no pains in giving the place a truly rustic appearance. Corn fodder and foliage were arranged on the walls of the building with a canopy of purple and white crepe paper overhead. Large bales of hay were used as seats and at the entrance to the hall a keg of cider was placed for the thirsty guests along with doughnuts and aples. The orchestra was hidden behind lattice work on the stage and a huge moon shed forth a yellow light for the moonlight dances. During the evening novelty dances were featured at which time various shaped hats were distributed along with horns and other noise making devices. Confetti and streamers were in evidence in abundance and giving the affair a truly mardi gra appearance.

Truce in Effect

(By United Press)

Rome, Dec. 29—With the Italian regular army in control of over half the city, a truce was in effect today while Fiume authoritites, presumably with the full knowledge of Gabriele d'Annunzio, considered yielding to the government's demand for recognition of the Adriatic treaty as a basis for a permanent peace.

Cessation of hostilities was greeted with great joy all through Italy where Nationalists had begun to arrange demonstrations to protest against the shooting of the Fiume legionnaires, men of their own blood.

Casualties in the two days of fighting, as reported here, were not high, considering the big advance made by the regulars. A total of fifty dead on both sides with possibly 200 wounded comprised the casualty list. Reports that 400 had been killed were not credited here where official statements hold the list down.

Today's truce resulted from a conference between Mayor Gigante and General Ferari, chief lieutenant of Gen. Caviglia. Gigante first made the demand that regular forces be withdrawn to their original positions. He then agreed practically to the government's original demands that Dalmatian Islands seized by d'Annunzio be returned to the government together with shipping seized by the Fiume legionnaires.

Ferrari's demand that the treaty be recognized before a permanent peace was considered, was reported to Fiume authorities with the expectation that a decision would be reached today. The procedure today indicated d'Annunzio himself was weakening in the face of the stubborn advance and perfect discipline of the regular forces.

The Legionaires withdrawing rapidly before that advance, fought almost exclusively with hand grenades and machine guns. Stationed on the flat tops of stone and brick buildings, the Legionnaires hurled their bombs at the regulars or sprayed the advancing parties with machine gun fire.

Gen. Caviglia promised his men attractive rewards for the capture of d'Annunzio alive There was no hint that punishment was intended for the post commander, but Caviglia appeared interested in taking and holding him uninjured.

Regular troops were in strong positions today for another advance should it be ordered. The troops were flung in a wide circle about the city Artillery had been brought up and a strong naval support awaited call to action.

FAYETTE CITY YOUNG MAN RELATES EXPERIENCE IN CAPTURE OF ARSON FIEND

Already five persons have filed claims for the $6,000 reward offered for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the numerous incendiary fires in this section, with two of the claimants being eliminated by virtue of their official capacity, the list has narrowed down to Harry Steinman of Fayette City, George Holder of the same place, and a young man by the name of Eckstein of Star Junction, with the Steinman lad undoubtedly making the best claim.

It is however, possible, that the reward will never be paid for the [illegible] most of either [illegible] Holder or Eckstein [illegible] and therefore [illegible] to secure a [illegible] their minds that the right person had been arrested for the fires. The matter promises to become mighty interesting and yesterday a delegation of farmers from the Fayette City district visited Uniontown in the interests of Steinman, whom they claim is justified in his claims for the reward.

Fayette [illegible] refusing to pay [illegible] Holder [illegible]

The young man who is responsible for the arrest of the self confessed fire bug, is the son of Burgess Steinman, editor of the Fayette City Journal, and has been deputized for some time and has taken an active part in the efforts to run down the fire bug. [illegible] Holder [illegible] for the [illegible] Eckstein [illegible] fire bug. [illegible] Smith.

"I gained [illegible] Saturday night [illegible] the fire [illegible] and two hours later gained enough evidennce I believe to convict him.

"Christmas eve at about 12:30 I had my car filled with gasoline and setting in front of my office, intending to watch all night for fear that someone might try to do damage to the printing office. At 1:20 a call came through the Bell phone to my father's residence which is on the same line as the office. It was Mr. Griff Stephens calling for help as there was a fire that he could see in the direction of the Clark farm. Then the tri-state phone rang for the office. I answered and Wm. L. Woods was on the other end. He told me to bring the men out quick that the Clark barn was on fire. I immediately gave the alarm and had two cars started on the way, then jumping into my own car with my men 'hit the dust' in the direction of the fire. Giving orders to the men to watch the fields and woods as we were passing along at a good speed, I watched ahead.

"As I approached the Binns woods about three quarters of a mile from the barn that lit the skies, I distinguished a young man walking at a good clip down the road toward my car. I applied the brakes, jumped out of the car, showed my badge, placed a gun at his breast and demanded an explanation of where he came from and where he was going.

"He said his name was Jones and he lived in Belle Vernon. I told him that the 'Jones' stuff would not go with me, that I meant business. After telling me several different stories of where he was going and what his name was, I placed him under arrest and shoved him in on the back of my men in the back seat. All the way to the fire he told one story after another, each one worse than the other. I was convinced that he was the mysterious fire bug.

"When I passed the farm of George Boyd, I could see that the Elliott barn was on fire. Instead of going to the Clark barn which was one quarter of a mile nearer, I turned up the road to Elliott's, jumping out of the car with the fire bug by the arm, I walked up in front of the burning barn and stood the man before Mr. Elliott and said I had his fire bug. Any fair minded man can guess what Elliott said for me to do with him.

Shooting Affray

As a result of a shooting scrape that took place yesterday afternoon in a house on Fourteenth street, Richard Jones, colored, is suffering from a bullet wound in the knee, while Percy Savage, also colored, is a prisoner in the borough lockup charged with firing the shot that inflicted the wound. The wounded man was taken to the Twelfth street gate of the Pittsburgh Steel, where his wounds were dressed. Savage was arrested shortly after the shooting affray and is being held for a hearing before a Justice of the Peace.

Sent to Jail

Albert Bobak, of Lock Four, upon entering a plea of guilty yesterday before Judge McIlvain to the charge of taking a female child under 16 years of age, for the purpose of marriage, was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse for six months. Bobak, a married man, took Margaret Archer, of Eldora, to Cumberland, Md., where they secured a license and were married. They were arrested and brought back by a Monongahela officer. Counsel for the defendant stated to the court that the girl was in appearance much older than 16 years of age, and had been working under an employment certificate for two years, and had been represented as being older. However it appears that false representations had been made as to her age, so that she might go to work. The court said the fact that Bobak was married annulled any other circumstances. Bobak has a wife and five children, who are now living in Connellsville.

The Rangers Five will leave for Pittsburgh tonight to play the Emsworth A. C. of the North Side. This will be a hard game for the Rangers and Manager McElvary will put in his strongest lineup. He will take with him Sicki Wheatley and Lucas, forwards; Rommetti, center; Pestefano, Jonnson and Kilpela, guards. The Rangers beat Donora last night 21 6

Capture Bandits

(By United Press)

Culver, Ind., Dec. 29—Five bandits entered the State Exchange Bank here today and after robbing the bank of cash and bonds, shot two of the leading business men. A posse was quickly formed and three of the bandits were captured fifteen minutes after the holdup. A gun battle in which over a hundred shots were exchanged preceded their capture. The two other alleged bandits were taken in custody by Knox, Indiana, police shortly afterwards. Most of the money stolen was recovered.

(By United Press)

New York, Dec. 29—Harry Wolfe was charged 15 cents for a shine. The court agreed it was an "outrage" and suspended sentence on him for punching the bootblack in the eye

Farmers Indignant

Indignation meetings have been held by farmers in Washington township and citizens of Fayette City, following the actions of Fayette county officials, and as a result the members of the American Legion doing guard duty in the district which has been invaded by firebugs, have resigned in a body and the town and vicinity is now without protection other than the individual owners of property who keep awake during the night with shot guns ready for an invasion of arson fiends.

It is stated that the trouble was started by a county detective who was stopped during the early hours of the morning by a farmer at the point of a shot gun. The farmer, suspicious of the man prowling about at that time of the morning demanded to know who he was and what his mission was in that territory, and in answer the county official became rather abusive and in turn threatened to arrest the farmer and throw him in jail. The farmer, however, with his shot gun cocked, drove the detective away and a few minutes later he was again stopped by a guard at the entrance of Fayette City, and this time he jumped from his car and it is alleged knocked the guard down. Following this action, the Legion members met and decided to withdraw all guards until better co-operation was received from the county officials and until such a time as the detective was removed from the force.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hudock of 113 Academy street, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emma Dorothy, to Dr. J. M. Skirpan of Monessen. Miss Hudock is a popular young lady of Plymouth and was graduated from Plymouth High school, class of 1915, and West Chester Normal, 1917. For the past three years she has been engaged in the profession of school teaching. Dr. Skirpan is one of the best known physicians of our town and a substantial young man.

Search for Deserter

(By United Press)

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 29—Armed sailors in motor launches today cruised the dismal swamp in search of Yeoman H. W. J. Myers, who is accused of deserting the destroyer Satterly with a payroll of $72,000.

Opening Game

The local High school basket ball team will open its season Friday evening with the strong Alumni team. The team has been practicing hard for several weeks and the prospects are good for a winning team. The team has not been picked yet but will probably be selected from the following men: Capt. Schmidt, Yengst, Schrading, J. Pillette, P. Pilette, Spike Hannigan and Miller Chalfant. The Alumni game will give followers of the team a chance to get a line on the local team.

The Alumni will be picked from a list of ex-high stars including the Conn brothers of W. & J.; Gibson of Carnegie Tech; Williams of State College, and Allison, Reed and Hutchison of Pitt. Season tickets will be put on sale Friday night and will include the Alumni game as well as nine other big games. The season ticket rate is just be the regular rate and is lower than last year's season ticket rate. A large crowd is sure to be present to see the ex-High and High school stars clash.

Preliminary to the boys' game, the local High school girls will play the Alumni girls. The first game will start at 7:15. First class officials will be secured to handle the games, probably Cliff Carlson.

Amateur Train Robbers

(By United Press)

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 29—Working in their father's little auto shop in the village of Greenville, near here, Jacob and Joseph Scott, twins, 24 years of age, decided to add a little spice to the humdrum of small town life by holding up the crack No. 2 New Orleans and Chicago Express on the Illinois Central. As a result of their efforts, Jacob is dead from a bullet of a railroad detective, while Joseph is in jail here. The flagman was the first to learn of the holdup when he felt three guns pressing against his side. The boys then entered the Pullman and after taking the hat of Miss Marjorie Fawcett, a Y. W. C. A. worker, one brother went through the coach collecting the valuables of the passengers. They returned many heirlooms at the request of the passengers and also refused to take the money of the brakeman, stating they were not after the poor man's money. They were later rounded up near Aroma Park, ind., hiding in a wash shed and when commanded to surrender, they opened fire on the officers. The officers returned the fire and when the smoke had cleared away, it was found that Joseph had been killed.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

PEACE TIME POLICIES

The nation is now out of war and it craves to be pulled out of the maelstrom of extravagance and recklessness in public office. Thrift and economy were among the slogans of the Republican party and one of the leading issues upon which the great victory was won. On March 4th the new president will assume his responsibilities. With his inauguration will come one of the greatest thrift waves that ever swept over this country. The American people will take hold, and economy and efficiency will penetrate every city hall in the land.

Monessen will change over next fall to the city form of government and since the public job has declined as a factor in politics and since the women are taking a hand in governmental affairs, we can expect a more representative government.

Years ago a politician to have any hope of success, had to be in a position to promise his followers succulent places on the pay rolls at the city hall. Even the common or garden variety of job, such as a laborer in the street cleaning or water bureaus, was looked upon with envious eyes by a horde of ward heelers.

Successful candidates built and held their organizations together by patronage. And by thus controlling the economic fortunes of their followers they were able to command loyalty and obedience.

In days of old these office holders and job grabbers comprised the so-called vest pocket vote that was always dependable. These, together with relatives and friends anxious to continue them at the public trough constituted a voting unit of no uncertain strength.

Until two or three years ago a city job paying from $1200 to $1500 a year was regarded as a juicy plum. Indeed, even the lowly street cleaner got more money and better hours of work than the average small office holder's ability could procure for him in private industry.

But the movement for better civic government on the part of men and women has swept all personal emoluments aside and it is none other than a narrow minded conspirator who will throw his sacred ballot, his constitutional privilege into the waste basket to keep a worthless friend at the public trough. Good governments are neither founded nor maintained on personal privilege and we are all glad that the day has come when America has liberated herself from the treacherous politician and restored the rights of the common people.

A FIELD FOR REFORMERS

This is a great season for reformers. With myriad devices to make the world utopian, a multitude of aspiring organizations are projecting themselves into the foreground. They are directed and supported by men of many types—practical and impractical, sensible and fanatical, sincere and insincere. They propose various programs—stricter motion picture censorship, Sunday blue laws, prohibition of tobacco and a constitutional emendment declaring this to be a Christian country.

In most cases the agitators probably believe that what they propose is an important contribution to the public welfare. The difficulty lies in making the multitude see it that way. To gain this end, certain sums totalling millions of dollars are being raised, by which the people are to be "educated."

The reformers have a hard row to hoe. At a time when the average man is conscious of a number of pressing needs that cry out for relief he is not likely to respond enthusiastically to the attempt to make him believe that other things are more important.

It is too bad that the reformers do not pool their strength behind the things that the people need, instead of behind things which they are not sure they want. Among the things the people need, and for which the reformers could fight with a clear conscience, are:

More and better homes in the cities More and better schools in the country districts. Lower federal taxes by spending less on war machines and some other government departments. Conservation of resources, particularly our forests.

These tasks are quite enough to challenge the ablest reform organizations in the nation With better schools and homes, lower taxes, and protection of our inherent wealth, the people would be far happier and better satisfied with themselves and their lot. A happy people will not go far wrong. They might be able, even, to dispense with a reformer's chalk line.

GETTING CLOSER TO CONSUMERS

Before business had reached the present perfection of system, farmers would haul their produce to town and sell either to consumers direct, or to grocers, who would take a small profit in passing the goods on to their patrons.

This method has been almost generally abandoned for the more complex, and also more expensive, one of having several persons take profits between the time the farmer sells his produce and its arrival in the home of the consumer In many cases these profits are shown to be out of proportion for the service rendered

It is admitted, of course, that few farmers can afford to take the time required to dispose of their stocks direct to consumers, so they prefer to sell to the jobber who visits the farm and buys an entire crop, or to the grocer, who becomes the distributor to the public

The complaint of both farmers and consumers is that the middlemen are taking more than a fair profit in the transaction and there is an insistent demand that brokers and others who do not actually handle the farm products be eliminated from any participation in the business

The senate and house have passed a measure that would permit farmers to sell under the co-operative plan without incurring the penalties of the Sherman anti-trust law, and it is likely that it will soon become a law Growers could market their produce in bulk through a farm agency and sell to growers direct, or to consumers in quantity

If such a plan should succeed in eliminating interests which are taking unearned profits from the distribution of food profits, it will have served well both the grower and consumer, who are equal sufferers under the present system of moving food from the producer to the home table

Walter Scott gave a violin recital yesetrday at the Baptist church in Belle Vernon. He was assisted at the piano by Mrs. C. R. Cheverini of this city.

The Ladies' Adult Bible class of the Baptist church held their regular meeting last evening in the church. Following the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and lunch served.

S. S. Townsend and wife are spending the holiday vacation with friends and relatives at West Newton and Perryopolis. Coach Townsend arrived in town today to take charge of the High school basket ball squad in practice tonight.

The Olympic hall having been redecorated and improved by the installation of six windows, giving plenty of ventilation, is now open for dances, lodge meetings, etc. Persons desiring to rent the hall should apply at the Olympic theatre. 63-tf

Mathew Koch, foreman in the job department at this office, was stricken by illness while visiting at his home in Mt. Pleasant and was unable to return on schedule time. He arrived last night but is unable to resume his duties today. His illness is ptomaine poisoning.

Class Meeting

The Alethia class of the First Christian church was entertained last evening at the home of Rev. P. A. Davis of Park Way. The business of the class was taken up and new officers elected for the ensuing year. Committees were appointed and class colors chosen. After the business meeting those present enjoyed a social time during which various games were played and a dainty lunch served by Mrs. P. A. Davis, assisted by Miss Mamie Todd. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Davis, Mrs. Charles Haziett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach, Miss Mamie and Miss Edith Todd, Miss Mamie and Miss Edith Todd, Miss Martha Stevenson, Miss Leona Anderson, Miss Roberta Williams, Miss Sophia Baldwin and Russel Weaver.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our kind friends and neighbors who were so good during the illness and death of our dear husband and father, Henry Boyd. Especially we do thank the Christian church choir, the Ladies Bible class and all those who sent floral tributes and so willingly donated cars. Their kindnesses will never be forgotten.

Drastic Changes

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 29—Prohibition enforcement will go on a new basis in many of its phases beginning January 1, according to present plans of Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer.

Kramer today was going over a list of persons licensed to traffic in liquor, alcohol, and patent medicines containing alcohol. Many licenses will be revoked, it is expected. One official today hinted that the "slaughter" may involve hundreds of licenses. Another predicted "thousands." Krames is silent.

One well known "medicine" however, will not be sold after January 1, Kramer made plain. This is manufuactured by different concerns under the title of "tonic; formula approved by the United States bureau of internal revenue." Besides this heading one manufacturer boldly prints "40 percent alcohol." Another uses only 15 per cent.

A high official of the prohibition enforcement unit today admitted that the manufactures of this "medicine" realy "put one over" on the bureau.

"We tested their formula," he said. "We though we had made it so bitter that no one could possibly drink enough to get much alcohol at one time. Wait until after January 1."

Relates Experience

"I saw that Elliott needed help and that no time was to be lost. I placed one of my men with a shot gun over our prisoner. We were the first ones to arrive on the scene, and while we were rendering help to Elliott, car after car came up. I talked with man after man, trying to get him interested in the fellow I had caugh. but to deaf ears. One of the men said to leave him go, but my last orders were, to the guard over him, to blow his head off if he made a crooked move.

After the guard promised that he would not take his eyes off of him, I followed the orders of Corp. Biessel, of the state police, and took Biessell to the Wood's residence one mile from the Elliott farm where I discovered my motor was frozen up. Biessel then flagged another car and I thawed out my motor. Then upon returning to the Elliott farm to take my man, I learned that my man was in the hands of state officers.

"I then went to Fayette City and on my way I picked up two men who had been tracing tracks and lost them at the Binns' grove, at the exact place where I picked up Albert Smith and placed him under arrest. I then went to the jail with these two men and took the shoes from Smith's feet and informed him to make a confession to me when I returned with the evidence that I could get out of this district. He said 'alright' and walked back in his cell. When I returned with the man's shoes, gathering enough evidence, I learned that he confessed to other officers and they had taken him away in his stocking feet."

Eagles Minstrel

can interpret all the dances of the great masters.

Miss Jean Stevenson, mezzo-soprano, who with Francis Levinton, Elsie Janis and other stars, entertained the soldiers "over there" during the late war, will sing several vocal selections. Miss Stevenson has a large repertoire of vocal music, and her program will be announced later.

The performance closes with the "Grand Minstrel First Part" and those who are fond of good singing, artistic dancing and funny comedians, should not fail to procure tickets and attend one of the performances. As this is the first minstrel show the local lodge has attempted for several years, it has been thought advisable by the committee in charge to give two performances, but as other minstrel shows have been in the habit of giving three and four performances, with a matinee on Saturday and have always played to standing room only, it may be necessary for the local lodge to play a return engagement at some future date, as two performances will hardly take care of the minstrel loving public, so it would be advisable for all those who intend to view this Minstrel show, to secure their reservations early, as the play house on Sixth street, will be taxed to the very doors, if past minstrel shows in Monessen are any criterion.

The fourth rehearsal takes place tonight at the club house, and the boys are all full of "pep" and have been attending rehearsals regularly, and from the interest they are taking in learning their songs and jokes, it will only take a few more rehearsals to put them on edge for the final rehearsal.

Tickets will be put on sale next week, and may be procured from any members of the local order. It is also said that a big delegation from Donora and Charleroi will be in attendance on the opening night, and it has been said that Braddock lodge will attend with their own special train, and give a parade before the show. All the musical numbers are full of "pep" and there will be lots of action throughout the performance, and from all appearances this show will be the banner attraction of the theatrical season.

Fifty-three Children In Three Beds

New York, Dec. 29 —„Fifty-three beds is the orphanage record to date in eastern Europe, where a third of the child population is fatherless and motherless as the result of the war Of course, fifty-three children could not actually occupy three beds, but that was all that was available in one orphanage in a factory town west of Warsaw Naturally, most of the fifty-three had to sleep on the floor, whether they were well or, as as it was in most instances, ill

"But this was not the worst hardship the little ones suffered," reported the relief workers who discovered their plight. 'They were on the verge of starvation When I was there they had not had a full ration of bread for three weeks More than half of them, also, were tuberculous, for under-nutrition is fast producing a race of consumptives in Poland"

To overcome this situation so far as may be and care for countless thousands of other suffering children in Europe, eight great American relief agencies have combined under the name of the European Relief Council in an appeal for $33,000,000 to carry out the work already begun for their rescue from a winter of horror.

Seek Scalp of Mayor Thompson of Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 29—Though Mayor William Hale Thompson's term does not expire for more than two years, democrats claim they have discovered a flaw in the law whereby a four year mayoralty term was authorized which would put Thompson's re-election at stake next spring and force a new election.

As a result of the discovery the democrats are considering a plan whereby they would institute court proceedings in an effort to force the Chicago Board of Election Commissioners to call a municipal election.

Democrats see in this a chance of ending the reign of Thompson and his associates and there is a strong movement to stage a "come back" for Carter H Harrison, several times mayor of Chicago.

Should the democrats be successful in upsetting the law on terms of mayors, it would mean that mayoralty elections would have to be held in a number of Illinois cities.

BUICK

EVERYBODY knows Buick builds six-cylinder Valve-in-Head automobiles.

—that Buick sold its entire 1920 out-put long before the end of the season.

—that Buick has sold a large percentage of its 1921 schedule.

—that Buick users are Buick salesmen.

—that Buick car values are 100 per cent.

Added to their recognized high service value the new Buick models possess a distinctive beauty. Their graceful lines and handsome appointments merit the pride which early buyers have expressed.

Nineteen Twenty One Buick automobiles have more improvements than any Buick models in the past five years and 1921 models represent 25% greater used car values.

Many of our spring deliveries are already contracted for. Thousands have been disappointed during past years because of the shortage of Buick cars.

The matter of present purchasing should receive the immediate consideration of motor car buyers (1-70)

UNEARTH SKELETON OF GIANT

Bones of Supposed Mound Builder Those of Man Eight or Nine Feet High.

Dr. W. J. Holland, curator of the Carnegie museum, Pittsburgh, and his assistant, Dr Peterson, a few days ago opened up a mound of the ancient race that inhabited this section and secured the skeleton of a man who when in the flesh was between eight and nine feet in height, says a Greensburg (Pa.) dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer.

This mound, which was originally about 160 feet long and more than 12 feet high, has been somewhat worn down by time. It is on the J. E. Secrist farm in South Huntington township. This farm has been in the Secrist name for more than a century.

The most interesting feature in the recent excavation was the mummified torso of the human body, which the experts figured was laid to rest at least 400 years ago. Portions of the bones did up and the bones in the legs, Prof Peterson declares, are those of a person between eight and nine feet in height. The scientist figures that this skeleton was the framework of a person of the prehistoric race that inhabited this section before the American Indians.

The torso and the portions of the big skeleton were shipped to the Carnegie museum Drs Holland and Peterson supervised the explorations on the Secrist mound with the greatest of care. The curators believe the man whose skeleton they secured belonged to the mound builder class.

Golf Ball Displayed Sense.

People who don't believe that golf balls have some sense of their own would stand small show just now in an argument with a player on the Rockford links, who made a badly-sliced tee shot, which carried the ball across the roadway into the open upstairs window of a house.

When the golfer went to retrieve the ball he found it on the mat of the front door of the house, waiting for him like a good child. After entering the bedroom it had bounded out through the door and rolled downstairs to the mat.

The golfer says if it hadn't had sense it might have gone through a closed window, breaking the glass, and then stuck in the room, making all sorts of possible trouble for him. As it was, the people of the house were none the wiser for the trespass of the golf ball.—London Mail.

The Clear Thinker.

They say of a man, "He is a clear thinker." A clear thinker is one who is honest with himself. Scorning everything but the truth, he is able to arrive at correct and definite conclusions because his mental vision is unobstructed. He is able to accomplish things because he thinks in a straight line.

Most of us say certain things cannot be done because the doing of them entails some little sacrifice or hardships on our part. We know in our hearts that these things can be done, yet we say "no" because we are not honest with ourselves—because we refuse to think clearly.

No one can achieve success unless he be a clear thinker; that is why so many of us start out in life with great promise and later find ourselves situated in the swing of mediocrity, or the junk yard of future because we have allowed our minds to become encrusted with barnacles.—From Franklin's Inc.

Japan's Famous Mountain.

Fuji is 12,365 feet in height, and only 200 years ago was an active volcano. There are still signs of fire in the jets of steam that spurt from parts of the cone though one may now descend the crater with safety. All about the base are great boiling springs, hot enough to cook an egg in a minute. These are known as Ojigoku, or "Great Hell." Whether the idea was taken from the Bible or not is not known. But Buddhism has plenty of hell of its own. Some 500,000 pilgrims ascend the cone every year; and this year, being a special one in sixty, according to the Japanese calendar the number was much greater than usual

Not Exciting.

"How was the movie?"

"Rather dull," said the jaded patron.

"No thrills, eh?"

"Well, the heroine jumped from a train traveling 60 miles an hour to an airplane, was carried over a precipice in a motorcar, was left standing on the deck of a submarine when it submerged, but there wasn't anything you could really call exciting."—Birmingham Age-Herald
